For Mothers!

It is a comparatively easy matter to kill the burdock, though it may be hard enough to exterminate it, because it seeds so plentifully and the seed will remain in the ground for years until it has a favorable chance to start.

At the burdock is biennial it dies out after it has seeded the second year, says American Cultivator, but only after it has provided thousands and tens of thousands of seeds to perpetuate its kind.

All that is needed to kill the plant is to take a dull ax and chop the root something below the surface, and then throw on a handful of salt. The burdock root being soft and moist dissolves the salt, which quickly rots it so that further sprouting of a new top is impossible.

No amount of cutting without the salt will do the work. The burdock, like most weeds, is a very persistent seeder. We have seen it mown down with the scythe two or three times during the summer, and yet in fall showing several clusters of seed burrs near the ground.

A few doses often brings out a loving heart that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving name, to "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

When I first took Wine of Cardui I had no children, but now I have a fine girl baby."

Modern Jerusalem.

Modern Jerusalem is built upon the ruins of the ancient city. The accumulated rubbish of centuries is very great, being 100 feet deep around the site of the Temple, and 40 feet deep on the hill of Zion.

The wall is about two and a half miles in circuit, with seven gates and thirty-four towers. All the streets are narrow, ungraded, often filthy and very crooked. The houses are of stone with flat roofs and frequently low domes.

Very few have windows on the streets. The inclosure around the place where the Temple once stood includes 35 acres, and is nearly a mile in circuit. The population is estimated at 30,000, divided as follows: Christian (chiefly Greek), 5,000; Mohammedans (Arabs and Turks), 7,500; Jews, 7,500. The church of the Holy Sepulchre is claimed by tradition to be built over Calvary. It is a great, rambling stone structure, in which are shown the spots where the three crosses were erected, the tomb of Christ, the tomb of Adam, etc. The evidence that it stands on Calvary is very defective, and the sites mentioned are purely legendary.—Toledo Blade.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal."

Mrs. Annie Stohle, 3025 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00. Get a bottle at Clark O. Proud's drug store.

What to Teach our Girls.

Teach them self-reliance. Teach them to make bread. Teach them to add up bills. Teach them to sew thick, warm shoes.

Teach them how to wash and iron clothes. Teach them how to make their own dresses. Teach them to cook a good meal, and to sew on buttons.

Teach them how to darn stockings and socks. Teach them to say "No" and mean it, or "Yes" and stick to it.

Teach them to wear calico dresses and do it like a queen. Give them a good substantial common school education.

Teach them that a good rosy romp is worth fifty consumptive. Teach them to regard the morals and not the money of their beaux.

Teach them all the mysteries of the kitchen, dining room and parlor. Teach them that the more one lives within his income the more he will save.

BREX, according to a statistician, must in order to collect a pound of clover honey, deprive 2,000 clover blossoms of their nectar.

Bride Your Tongue.

The story is told of a woman who used her tongue to the scandal of others, and made confession to a priest of what she had done. He gave her a ripe thistle and told her to go and scatter it in various directions. Wondering at the penance she obeyed and then returned and told her confessor. To her amazement he told her to go and gather the scattered seeds and when she obeyed he told her it would be impossible, he replied that it would be still more difficult to gather up and destroy all evil reports which she had circulated about others. Any thoughtless careless child can scatter a handful of thistle seed before the wind in a moment, but the strongest and wisest man can never gather them up again.—Ex.

Corn as Fuel.

A bulletin issued by the experiment station of the University of Nebraska, giving results of tests of the value of corn as fuel, shows that the burning of corn may be a proceeding greatly to the farmer's benefit when the price of corn is low and that of coal high. The tests showed that one pound of screened Wyoming coal, costing $6.55 per ton, evaporated 1.9 times as much water in a steam boiler as could be evaporated by one pound of a good grade of yellow dent corn on the ear, not thoroughly dried. The following figures show the value of corn per bushel as fuel when the tests were made at the price given:

Coal per ton $4.87 $5.41 $5.95 $6.49 $7.11 $7.57 $8.11
Corn per bushel 9 10 11 12 13 14 15

To Restrict Immigration.

An old question, do you say? There is none more live before the American people. Indications are that at the regular session of congress in December a radical bill will be introduced bearing on the question and will be pushed to passage. As Mr. Dingley was the head and front of the new tariff bill so Mr. Lorenzo Stanford, of Ohio, is the leader in the movement to protect American laborers from the workmen of the old country who seek these shores.

Mr. Stanford is chairman of the house committee on immigration, and it is understood that this committee is made up of men favorable to a radical immigration measure, and that Stanford himself will give his great support to the bill. It is understood that Mr. Stanford has already gathered a great amount of data, and much of his time until congress meets will be spent in preparation of the measure.

The country is ready for such a law. Immigration should be restricted and in a way that means something. With thousands of idle Americans in the large cities the past few years there is little need of any importation of laborers from abroad. It is certainly as important to protect the product of their labor. All the arguments which have been used in favor of the restriction of immigration apply more forcibly now than at any time in the history of the Republic.

The country is ready for just such a measure as Mr. Stanford is preparing, and congress cannot give its attention to a more important matter when it meets in December.

Some 1819 Prices.

Among a lot of old books which we found in the "Old Clerk's office" is a book recording the sales made by S. Gardner & Co. The date of the inventory of stock is June 20, 1819, and shows that in those days large stocks were carried, as the stock of this firm amounted to nearly $12,000. There is quite a reduction in the price of things since that time, for we note that nutmegs sold at 8 1/2 cents each, brown sugar 1 1/2 cents per pound, coffee 37 1/2 cents per pound, pepper 50 cents per pound, loaf sugar 30 cents per pound, tea $2 per pound, molasses 81 cents per gallon, salt 75 cents per bushel, allspice 40 cents per pound, mustard 8 cents per ounce, flour $7.50 per barrel. Whiskey sold at 75 cents per gallon, bar iron 7 cents per pound, nails 12 1/2 cents per pound, paper pins 17 cents, shot 12 1
